— HOW A CONTEST IS JUDGED —

The contest is an effort at perfection on that part of every Drum and Bugle Corps. The culmination of that effort brings out the best in each unit. It is the task of the judges to measure that effort and to mark its value in relation to perfection.

To assist the fans in making the competition more pleasurable and to get a better understanding of the various musical and military details in judging a contest, we wish to point out the scoring method used by the judges. All the Corps start off with 100 points, from which all their infractions and penalties are subtracted, the corps ending with the highest score is the winner.

MARCHING AND MANEUVERING

30 POINTS

Interval between men, distance between ranks, files not covered, dress of ranks squad, sections, platoons and Corps fronts must be in perfect array. Any failure even of the slightest degree, means the loss of a tenth of a point for each unit infraction. The perfection of detail must be carried out to such a degree that any bad break of formation or any non conformity of even a pivot meets with disapproving check of the judge to the tune of a tenth of a point.

BUGLING

20 POINTS

Tone quality, musical accents, proper musical blend, tone and release are all qualities which a good Drum and Bugle Corps must effect. Failure to do so in any and each aspect means the loss of a tenth of a point. Musical contrast, diminuendo and crescendo, accelerando and retard are vital qualities of a good musical unit; each failure means the loss of a tenth of a point. Handling of equipment such as position of bugles while marching and playing, bringing them up and down at the beginning and completion of a song lend to the good order of the unit. Each failure means a tenth of a point.

DRUMMING _____ 20 POINTS

The Drum judge ascertains the proper angle of the drums, the exact position and height of the sticks. Each drum rudiment which corresponds to the musical note on the huge, must be done to perfection. Attack, release, contrast, diminuendo, crescendo are all tonal requisites of a good drummer. Any time he errs in any one of these departments he loses a tenth of a point for his unit.

GENERAL EFFECT SHOWMANSHIP _____ 30 POINTS

The General Effect judge ascertains the effect of the Corps on the audience, the smoothness of execution of the drill, the general temper of the bugling and drumming, the action of the drum major and the Color Guard. Are the maneuvers simple or complex, are they set to the music, does the entire show have the harmony and blend it should have?

TIME

Each corps will be on the field from 11 to 13 minutes. Any corps who is on the field less than 11 minutes or more than 13 minutes will be penalized two full points for each minute or fraction thereof.

COLORS

Respect to the American Flag must be retained at all times, and be guarded by the Riflemen or the Color Guard Captain. The American Flag must be in front of or at the right of all other flags when in the same row. When the Colors (American Flag) pass by, the other flags will dip in respect.
